

Monthly report June 2017

Strong investment activity in June

- Secondary acquisition Project Aurora
- Direct debt financing in Boyd Corporation
- Real estate secondary investment in Project Immo IV

In June, Partners Group Generations Fund I eased by 0.6% and closed the first half of the year with a performance of +3.7%. Listed investments faced a weaker month and underperformed the private markets assets. On the investment side, the Fund remained on a solid activity level by adding five private markets investments to the portfolio.

One such investment is Project Aurora, a secondary acquisition comprising six buyout and two credit funds managed by top-tier investment managers across Europe, Asia and the US. With fund vintages ranging from 2009 to 2013, the portfolio consists of attractive inflection assets with limited public exposure and significant value creation potential. The overweight to small- and mid-cap funds in the portfolio makes the transaction a complementary addition to the secondary portfolio which is predominantly large-cap focused.

On the private debt side, Partners Group provided debt financing to Boyd Corporation in support of the company's acquisition of Aavid Thermalloy, a provider of thermal management solutions. Founded in 1928, Boyd is a designer and producer of engineered components used in the manufacturing of highly technical products. Boyd's product range includes environmental seals, tight tolerance gaskets, thermal management products, optical products, as well as shock and vibration dampers. The acquisition is envisaged to enhance the company's product offerings by adding Aavid Thermalloy's manufacturing and technological capabilities.

On the real state side, Partners Group completed a secondary transaction in Project Immo IV, a portfolio of six mature real estate funds with vintages ranging from 2005 to 2008. The portfolio assets are split across various countries in Europe, including France, Germany, Slovakia and Romania. All of the underlying funds are in the process of divesting their assets, with the final exit anticipated to take place by 2020. Additionally, projected near-term exits are expected to offset the purchase price. Partners Group considers this investment attractive due to the highly discounted purchase price and visibility into the portfolio, where Partners Group had previously invested into two of the underlying funds.
